

Energy ISO 50001:2011

Isola received its ISO 50001:2011 Certificate in 2012. ISO 50001:2011 specifies requirements for establishing, implementing, maintaining and improving an energy management system, whose purpose is to enable an organization to follow a systematic approach in achieving continual improvement of energy performance, including energy efficiency, energy use and consumption.

ISO 50001:2011 applies to all variables affecting energy performance that can be monitored and influenced by the organization.
